Firemen Voice Strong Objections to Plan To Relocate Chambers Street Firehouse

For decades, both Princetons have been served by three fire stations, all located in the Borough. A more sensible arrangement, according to consultant Thomas Shand, would be to have two stations in the Township and only one in the Borough.

This is one of the findings presented by Mr. Shand, author of a recently released study of the Fire Department, at a meeting last week of the Joint Fire Commission.

Most of the evening was taken up with a discussion of Mr. Shand's recommendation that the Chambers Street Firehouse — Engine Company No. 3 — should be moved into the Township, either to the intersection of Route 206 and Valley Road or to Stuart Road and Hardy Drive.

Several firefighters in the audience vehemently opposed moving the station, which has been in operation since 1932. Comments they directed against the Valley Road site included the fact that it was less than a mile from the present firehouse on Chambers Street and that it was located in a school zone.

The objecting firefighters deplored Stuart Road as a site because it is too far from the homes and workplaces of the volunteers. A station there, they argued, would result in a response time to the station that would be far too long. In addition, they felt that no one in that section of the Township would be interested in becoming a volunteer firefighter.

Although Mark Freda of Engine Company No. 2 said that no one was seriously considering the Stuart Road site and the idea should be dropped, Mr. Shand wasn't so certain.

Lighting PHS Fields May Be Dropped, But Group's Concern for Youth Still High

"It's 10 p.m. Do you know where your children are?"

The general feeling at last week's meeting of Sports Illuminated-Project Lights was that they might be "hanging around" downtown or at the shopping center. Or, even worse, they would be found drinking beer at each other's homes.

Most of the people who spoke at the meeting — called by Sports Illuminated to spark community concern for Princeton's youth — said that the town has provided nothing for its teenagers to do at night or on weekends.

You might remember Sports Illuminated as the committee that managed to infuriate many of the residents of Moore Street with its wish to raise $125,000 to light the Princeton High School field.

Now the committee may be in the process of becoming an advocacy group for youth, said its chairman, Peter Smith.

"We started with one purpose and we may develop other purposes," he said.

"We felt that Friday and Saturday night games might help," he told the 50 persons assembled in the Davis Con-

Amendments Adopted On Affordable Housing

Affordable housing — who is eligible and how to keep it affordable — was the focus of much of the discussion at Township Committee's meeting last Thursday.

Committee unanimously adopted a package of miscellaneous amendments to the affordable housing ordinance adopted last November "under the gun" of the pending Mount Laurel suit. The amendments, largely technical in nature, grew out of criticisms of the ordinance made by the developer-plaintiffs in the discovery phase of the litigation, which has not yet been scheduled for trial.

ference Room of Princeton High School, "but lighting the field seemed to be an idea that didn't go over well."

Mr. Smith said that Sports Illuminated was still worried about beer parties, lack of school spirit, and the absence of community concern for youth.

The meeting's new direction began slowly, with several residents of Moore and other streets adjoining the field stating that they didn't want their property values destroyed by the lights.

Norman Winarsky, a leader in the fight against lighting the field, said he liked the idea of raising a large sum of money to be kept intact in principle. He said the fund might be administered by the school board and that each year's student council could decide the use to which it would be put.

"We don't know what the children want or enjoy," he said.

IT'S TROPHY TIME FOR PRINCETON DAY BOYS AND GIRLS LACROSSE: Just three days apart last week, the Princeton Day girls and boys lacrosse teams captured state titles. Last Wednesday, the girls, led by their co-captains, Birgit Enstrom (left) and Karen Callaway, won the NJISAA Prep A title for the fifth consecutive year, finishing with a perfect 15-0 mark. It's the second time

In four years the team has gone undefeated. The following Saturday, the boys won both the Prep A Championship and the more prestigious Coaches Tournament, thereby gaining recognition as the top secondary school lacrosse team in the state. Co-captains Sean Flaher, left, and Tom Foater, needed help from coach Bob Krueger to hold all the trophies. See Pages 18B-19B. (W L. Bill Allen photos)

Fire Stations

"This is the most undeveloped area of the Township," he said. "It might be advantageous to have a station there if there is great growth. This could be the most plausible site years from now."

He added, however, that the Valley Road site would take the firehouse out of the congested central business district and make areas of the Township easier to reach.

Right now, according to the study, parts of the Township are beyond the recommended distances from a fire station, particularly the northern and far northwestern areas.

The Borough on the other hand, said Mr. Shand, would be adequately protected with only one appropriately located fire station.

The different levels of protection enjoyed by the Borough and Township are reflected in the municipalities' fire ratings. The Township is rated "6"; the Borough's rating is a more favorable "5."

Former Borough Councilman William Selden, one of the founders in 1977 of the Joint Fire Commission, said that the location of Number 3 means a great deal. "The future growth will be in the Township; it can't be in the Borough."

He said it would be most unfortunate if the problem is not dealt with collegially for the good of the community and if the Township decides to run its own department. (Right now, the Township pays 65 percent of the costs of the joint fire department.)

When Mr. Selden asserted that the Borough can't afford to run the Fire Department on its own, there were groans from several members of the audience.

Alternatives to Moving. Fire Commission member Bob Mooney insisted there was no need to move the firehouse in order to supply good fire service to the Township. He asked why, in order to ease the problem of congestion, parking couldn't be removed from Chambers Street or the street he made one way.

Referring to Mr. Shand's recommendation to relocate the Chambers Street station, Mr. Mooney said, "I suspect he was prompted to make this recommendation."

Township Mayor Winthrop Pike immediately stood up and declared, "I resent that."

Mayor Pike had previously stated that his aim was "to make a damn good department better." He added that Mt. Laurel won't go away and that the sites for affordable housing would be in the Township.

"Are we going to be able to serve residents of affordable

Demonstrators Block Nassau Hall Entrances; Arrests, Promise of More Protests, Follow

Those 88 demonstrators arrested for blockading Nassau Hall Thursday morning, out of anger and frustration over what they perceive as the University's intransigence against seeking alternatives to its investment policies with companies doing business with South Africa, face a hearing next Thursday in Borough municipal court.

The demonstrators, mostly students and junior faculty members, have been charged by University officials with criminal trespass and interference with a lawful meeting.

Of The Town

Each one arrested by university proctors and taken to police headquarters for processing, faces a maximum penalty of six months in jail and a $500 fine or both, if found guilty.

In addition, the student demonstrators also face disciplinary penalties from the university, ranging from warnings, probation, suspension, withheld degrees to expulsion.

Court hearings for many of the underclass demonstrators will probably be postponed, however, until September. The Borough court clerk this week reported receiving a number of requests for adjournments by underclassmen who will no longer be on campus next Wednesday.

Starts at 6 a.m. The demonstrators, estimated at 125 to 150, gathered in the rain at 6 in the morning and successfully blocked all five entrances to Nassau Hall. A few minutes before 8, those involved in the blockade were first warned by university officials that, if they persisted, they would face criminal charges and be subject to university discipline.

ing, the protestors still refused to move, university proctors moved in. Those arrested were escorted, carried or dragged from the scene and taken to Borough Hall. University employees were able to enter Nassau Hall around 9 a.m. and all five entrances were declared open at 9:45.

More Protests Planned? Meanwhile, a student spokesman for the Coalition for Divestment, which is seeking to pressure the University into investigating the feasibility of withdrawing its $345 million in investments with companies that do business with racially-segregated South Africa, promised more demonstrations during upcoming reunion and commencement activities.

Said one student, "We want a dialogue with President

Bowen and all we're getting is a monologue."

Fundamental to the rift between the Coalition for Divestment and others concerned with the university's investment policy (its $1.2 billion endowment is reported to be the third largest among the nation's colleges) is that President Bowen is dragging his feet on a divestment feasibility study and is discouraging its implementation in meetings with University trustees.

President Bowen denies the charge and termed the disagreement between the coalition and university regrettable. "It's always regrettable," he said, when you reach this kind of impasse."

A coalition member said that students were led to believe the idea of a feasibility study was being supported, following a May 17 meeting of the trustees.

A statement released by the University's Robert K. Durkee, vice-president for public affairs, said there was an apparent misunderstanding concerning the trustees and their consideration of the divestiture issue. While the appropriateness of divestiture and possible alternatives were discussed, the statement said, "There was no expectation that the Policy and Budget Subcommittee would reach substantive conclusions on any of these issues at this meeting, and it did not."

A two-page "Extra" printed Thursday by The Daily Princetonian quoted Nancy Peretsman, chairperson of the Policy and Budget Subcommittee as being "quite upset with what is an unbelievable

Water Conservation Asked

Elizabethtown Water Company has requested its customers to join in a voluntary odd-even system of water use for lawn and garden care and in a series of other voluntary measures to insure the availability of adequate supplies of water.

According to an Elizabethtown spokesman, the company's sources of supply are more than capable of meeting the needs of the towns it serves. However, it has now begun being asked by the State to supply substantial amounts of water to northern New Jersey.

Under the voluntary system, homeowners with odd street numbers may, if they wish, water lawns and gardens on odd days of the month, and those with even street numbers on even days.

Customers are also asked to check all plumbing fixtures for leaks and to have those repaired as quickly as possible. Also, lawn sprinklers should be carefully placed so as not to waste water on driveways, sidewalks and streets.

In this area, Elizabethtown serves Princeton, West Windsor, Plainsboro, and Montgomery.

misunderstanding." She insisted that the trustees have been bending over backwards to meet with coalition members, and she found insulting assertions that President Bowen was trying to manipulate the opinions of the trustees on the divestiture issue.

housing 20 years down the road?" he asked.

Who Will Fight the Fires? Manpower was another area that came up for discussion. Currently, there are 68 active firefighters on the rolls. Of these, 28 live in the Borough, 23 in the Township, and 17 out of town.

In response to Mr. Monney's earlier suggestion that a fourth firehouse be considered instead of moving a present company, Mr. Shand said that there is currently not enough manpower for a fourth station.

"You don't have enough manpower for three stations right now," he told the commission.

"You need to retain existing people and attract new ones," said Mr. Shand. He suggested a recruitment program and an attempt to enroll students from Princeton University and other area schools. It was noted that the First Aid Squad has consistently managed to attract university students.

Another suggestion was the provision of some kind of incentive to firefighters. Mr. Shand noted that the State of Maryland has begun offering pensions to firefighters after 20 years of service.

The suggestion that the term of the chief be extended from one to two years was met with general approval, as was the idea of providing an administrative assistant to the chief.

"I see a clear need for that position," said Mayor Pike. "I would be willing to support it with money if necessary."

CUSTODIAN CHARGED

In Rape of Boy. A 46-year-old custodian in a Princeton Regional School building has been charged by Township police with the sexual assault and simple assault of a 14-year-old Princeton boy and with possession of a weapon for unlawful purposes.

Edward W. Courtney of 32 South Dean Avenue in Trenton was arrested last Wednesday evening at his home by Township Juvenile Officer Peter Savalli and Trenton detectives. At a preliminary arraignment last week before Township Judge Sydney Souter, Courtney was released in 10 percent of $5,000 bail on each of the weapon and simple assault charges, and in 10 percent of $10,000 bail for sexual assault. The charges were then referred to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office.

threatened the youth with a 12-inch pipe on May 17 when he allegedly resisted his sexual advances. Police said the youth had also been "smacked around" by Courtney.

In the charge of sexual assault, Courtney is alleged to have raped the youth last year in May, 1984. Police said the suspect and victim knew each other.

The most recent incident came to light when Courtney is alleged to have assaulted the youth again on May 21 in the Borough.

The victim reported the attack to Township police and the three Township charges stemmed from a subsequent investigation by Det. Savalli.

Chief Michael Carnevale commented Monday that no one was at the scene when police responded to investigate the alleged assault in the Borough and that police are continuing their investigation into the incident. "Certainly, if we find an assault took place, we will make charges," said Chief Carnevale.

LEWDNESS CHARGED

Against Princeton Man. William T. Coker, 20, 254 Hawthorne Avenue, has been charged by Township police with lewdness.

Coker was arrested Saturday afternoon by Sgt. Anthony Gaylord after police received a call that a man was running around the Littlebrook School playground area with no clothes on. Coker was dressed by the time police arrived, but he was identified by witnesses. He was issued a complaint summons and released.

Zuzan Tomaszewski, 60, of Somerset has been charged with shoplifting, after she was observed stealing a man's polo shirt valued at $12.99 at Epstein's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

observed Saturday afternoon by a store security officer attempting to conceal the shirt in her slacks. She was issued a summons and released.

In a third arrest on Saturday by Township police, Henry T. Lockhart, 35, of Trenton, was charged with possession of two stolen bicycles.

Police report the bicycles were taken from Lot 5 off Washington Road on the Princeton University campus and that Lockhart was in the custody of university security officers when they called Township police at 9:54 in the evening.

In Township court last week, William B. Bock, 6 Olden Lane, and Timothy Howard, 38 Redding Circle were each fined for speeding.

Mr. Bock paid $65, Mr. Howard $75.

DOUBLE BILLING

For Hospital Patient. While a Princeton Junction resident was a patient at Princeton Medical Center recently, someone stole his driver's license and Social Security card from his room.

Borough police were informed on Thursday that the stolen identification had been used by someone for medical attention during a six-day stay at Burlington Memorial Hospital.

The victim became aware of the deception when he was called by the hospital and told he owed a bill of several thousands of dollars.

"It's ironic," noted Chief Michael Carnevale, "that while the victim was being treated at one hospital, he was receiving a bill from another."

Chief Carnevale added that another patient sharing a room with the victim is a suspect in the theft.

Wallet Thefts. A Princeton resident left her wallet containing $40 and credit cards on a counter while shopping Monday morning at the Wawa Store on Nassau Street. When she returned an hour and half later, it was missing.

A Philadelphia resident left her pocketbook unattended for 15 minutes last week in the children's section of the public library. That was all the time a sneak thief needed to reach in and remove her wallet containing $30. The wallet was valued at $40.

Someone entered the unlocked car of a Burlington resident while it was parked last week in a Princeton University lot off Faculty Road. Taken from the car were an AM-FM stereo-radio cassette deck, a leather jacket and an overnight bag with clothing with a combined value of $950.

A $260 radar detector was removed from the glove compartment of a 1985 Honda owned by a Bay Head resident while it was parked last week in a Witherspoon Street lot. Police report the car had been forced open.

Also stolen last week was a cordless telephone from a construction trailer on Poor Farm Road. The trailer had been forced open, police said, and the phone is valued at $129.92. There was an overnight attempt last week to enter a drug cabinet in a doctor's office on Witherspoon Street. Police, who were informed of the attempt by the doctor, said there were visible pry marks on the cabinet but that no apparent entry had been gained.

Still More Bikes. Another week and more bicycle thefts reported.

Someone used a bolt cutter to cut through a chain lock and steal a $180 bicycle that had been chained to a rack near Guyot Hall on the university campus.

A Princeton resident had secured his bike to a rack in front of the Woodrow Wilson School building by passing a chain lock through the front wheel and frame. Undaunted, a thief used a wrench and disconnected the chain to steal the rear wheel and rim valued at $75 — which shows, commented Chief Carnevale, that you can't win either way.

Township police report the theft of two bikes from racks in front of the Community Park pool complex.

A $300 10-speed model was taken on Memorial Day between 1:30 and 5:30, and a second 10-speed valued at $140 was stolen the previous day between 3 and 5 p.m. Police said the owners were 14 and 12 years old.

CAR HITS POLE

On Cherry Hill Road. While driving on Cherry Hill Road Thursday morning, Patricia A. Serlenga, 49, of Lambertville, saw a car backing from a drive at 235 Cherry Hill.

She moved to the right to avoid a collision and in so doing lost control and struck a pole. She was taken to Princeton Medical Center and treated for internal head injuries.

Her 1979 sedan sustained extensive front end damage and had to be towed from the accident scene some 400 feet from Crestview Drive. Mrs. Serlenga was issued a summons for careless driving by Sgt. Mario Musso.

TRANSFORMER STRUCK

By Lightning. A transformer in a first-floor room at Alexander Hall on the Princeton Seminary campus was struck by lightning last week.

Police and firemen responded after receiving an 8:48 call last Wednesday evening reporting smoke coming from the transformer room.

Assistant Fire Chief Peter Hodge reported that the bolt had set off an electrical fire. The damaged transformer was expected to be repaired by Seminary electricians.

Clover Lane Fire. A home at 224 Clover Lane suffered extensive smoke and water damage Saturday, after a fire, believed to have started in the kitchen, spread to the roof.

The owner told police he had left at 4:30 to go to the movies and had left some food cooking on top of an electric stove. Ptl. John Petrone Jr. responded to a call at 5:05 and requested aid from Princeton's volunteer firemen who arrived and put out the fire.

Fire Chief Thomas Hagadorn is continuing the investigation into the exact cause of the fire.

The 1985 gubernatorial primary will be held this Tuesday, June 4. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.
With two seats open on Borough Council, and only one Democratic candidate — Peter Bearse — having filed, Democratic voters in Princeton Borough will have the unique opportuni-ty to choose a write-in can-didate. An explanation of the write-in process — and a pencil — will be available at the polls.
Persons never having voted in a primary election will have the opportunity on Primary Day to select whether they wish to vote in the Republican or Democratic contest. The Watersheds Association is acting as spon-sor of the Project, which will seek, through public and private action, and in spite of accelerating development pressure, to acquire as much open space as possible as a buffer to Route One develop-ment.

a full-time project manager. The meeting on Thursday will discuss the current status of Project Greenway and plans for future actions. Trustees and directors and other active participants in the founding organizations are especially invited. Robert C. Johnson of Princeton is the chairman of the Steering Committee.

REGISTER JUNE 4
For Kindergarten, Princeton Regional Schools has scheduled Tuesday, June 4, from 7:30 to 10:30 a.m. as an additional kindergarten registration date for parents who have not yet registered their children for entrance in September. To be eligible, a child would need to have his or her fifth birthday on or before November 30, 1985. Children should be registered at the school they will attend in September. Proof of Princeton residency must be established. It is not necessary for parents to bring their children to registration. They should, however, bring their child's birth certificate and medical records — particularly immunization records. Under State law, students who lack the following immunizations by September cannot be admitted until they have each one: DPT, oral polio, measles, rubella and mumps.

If a parent is not fluent in English, he or she is welcome to bring a friend to interpret. Parents are also encouraged to inform the kindergarten teacher or school nurse during registration of any conditions which might affect the educational planning for the child.

TROOP AIDS LIBRARY

Under the supervision of troop leader Linda Mindlin, the girls color-coded book order forms and marked forms used in the mending of books. The volunteers were Madeline Abrams, Rebecca Abrams, Katie Bittinger, Leslie Howard, Christiana Hoyler, Janet Leopold, Alison Noble, Rachel Stentz, and Hannae Winarsky.

With 600 banners composed of needlework, or painted and drawn peace scenes, expected from every state in the Union, the ribbon has grown to 10 miles in length. In this area, individual sections were created by members of the Artisans Guild of the YWCA, school children in both public and private schools, the Senior Resource Center, Unitarian Church and Trinity Church women, the Peace Education Committee of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament and an organization of teachers known as Educators for Social Responsibility.

Last Sunday there was a ceremony at the State Capitol in Trenton to mark the joining together of all the peace banners created by women and children of New Jersey. Marie Varley of Church World Service, state coordinator of the effort in New Jersey, led some 200 people gathered on the Capitol steps in prayers and songs for peace.

According to Emma Forehand of the Unitarian Church, there will be busloads of people going to Washington on August 6 to assist in the encircling of the Pentagon and other buildings. Those who wish to be part of this occasion are invited to call The Coali-

CAMP PROGRAMS TOPIC
Of Evening Session. Scenes of Camp Mason and outdoor camping adventures in New Jersey will be featured in an informal evening at the YMCA on Wednesday, June 5 at 7:30 p.m. Designed for campers and their parents, the hour-long program will highlight the central YMCA camp in Blairstown and the new wilderness camp directed by outdoor specialist Warren Elmer. Staff members from both camping programs will be on hand to answer questions, and informal slide presentations are planned.

Campers ages 10 to 16 are urged to attend. An overnight camp-out at Camp Mason is part of the program for 10-12-year-olds in the Discoveries Camp. The Adventure Camp — a 12-day wilderness experience — is seeking 13-16 year-olds for hiking, camping, canoeing and climbing.

Those interested should call the YMCA at 924-4497. The information session will be held in the All Purpose Room at the YM-YWCA on Paul Robeson Place.

DANCE PLANNED
On Bastille Day, The Benefit Committee of Trinity Counseling Service will hold a dinner dance at Bedens Brook Club on July 13. The theme, "Storming of the Bastille," will have the music of Ben Cutler and "Revolutionary Dress." Proceeds from the evening will go to Trinity Counseling Service, founded in 1968 by the Rev. E. Rugby Auer. The Center presently has a staff of 16 professionals, including clergy, social workers, psychiatrists and psychologists. They include all denominations and operate in a pastoral tradition of caring. Referrals are made by pastors, doctors, lawyers and previous clients.

In April, Trinity Counseling launched the Million Dollar Endowment Campaign with James Scott Hill as chairman. Invitations for the dinner dance may be obtained by calling Trinity Counseling, 924-0060. The Committee includes Betsy Belshaw, Judy Burks, Audrey Gates, Sally Hill, Nancy Kirkpatrick, Susan Levy, Betsey Petty, Daphne A. Housing

The discussion by Committee, before adoption, centered around whether or not to delete a phrase concerning the eligibility requirements for affordable housing. The ordinance stipulates that preference would be given to Princeton residents, former Princeton residents, or those employed here and living in sub-standard or over-crowded housing.

Committeewoman Gail Firestone objected to this last condition and introduced an amendment deleting the phrase "and living in sub-standard or over-crowded housing." It was felt, for instance, that many Princeton residents, former residents or those employed here, although not living in sub-standard housing, may be paying too much of their income in rent and thus should be eligible for the affordable housing program.

Township Attorney Edwin Schmierer said he thought deleting the phrase might weaken the Township's Mount Laurel case in court when it does go to trial. Housing consultant Alan Mallach also recommended leaving the phrase in the ordinance, saying that the Township should maintain some link with the concept of need. Heeding the advice of Mr. Schmierer and Mr. Mallach, Township Mayor Winthrop S. Pike voted against Mrs. Firestone's amendment, but his was the only dissent.

Later in the evening, Mr. Mallach reviewed with Committee proposed regulations for the Housing Board that will administer the affordable housing program. Again, most of the discussion centered on criteria for eligibility — what happens when residents' incomes exceed limits; what happens when unauthorized people move in and help pay the rent.

Harriet Bryan, president of Princeton Community Housing, spoke of that organization's experiences in administering Princeton Community Village. Mrs. Bryan said there was a long waiting list for one- and two-bedroom apartments, and a short list for the three- and four-

Township Applicants Sought

The Neighborhood Preservation Program provides money to homeowners for housing repairs and improvements. The money is given as a grant. It is not a loan.

The program has been expanded to include the Township section of the John-Witherspoon area. The Neighborhood Preservation Program will be accepting applications from Township residents of the John-Witherspoon area through June.

Eligible applicants must be the owner-occupant of a residential structure in the Township section of the John-Witherspoon area. Total family income can not exceed $38,625. Applications can be obtained by contacting Michael Floyd at Borough Hall, 924-3119 or 924-3750.

bedroom units. She told Committee to make sure enough units were set aside for the handicapped.

There is quite a need for such units, she said, judging by the numbers of applications for handicapped units at Elm Court, the housing for the elderly and handicapped in the process of being completed off Elm Road. There have been more than 400 applications for the 88 units in this housing development, Mrs. Bryan noted.

Mrs. Bryan also spoke of PCV's policy when someone living there has a rise in income. The policy is not to kick anyone out but to adjust the rent upward instead. Eventually people whose incomes are rising want to move out, she noted.

Much of the talk by Committee centered on what proportion of assets should play a role in determining eligibility and what the provisions should be for moving out people whose incomes exceed limits. Discussion will be continued at the June 10 meeting.

Mayor Pike read a letter from Elizabethtown Water Co. urging voluntary water restrictions on the part of all citizens and a proclamation by Gov. Kean on the gravity of the drought. Thus far, mandatory restrictions have not been imposed on Princeton, but residents were urged to use precautions in such things as watering their lawns either in the early morning or evening or on an odd-even basis according to house number.

Those with even house numbers would water only on even days of the month, and vice versa.

In other business, Mayor Pike named three members to the Ad Hoc Historic Sites Committee. They are Charles St. John, a Township resident who has served on the Historic Sites Commission that has worked for 10 years to get a landmarks ordinance adopted in Princeton; Barbara Cantrell, Township Committeewoman who asked to be named to the Committee; and Robert von Zumbusch, a member of the Environmental Design Review Committee. If the Township follows the lead of the Borough, the review process for changes to the exterior of an historic building or a building in an historic district would be handled through a committee substituting for the EDRS.

The Township's Ad Hoc Historic Sites Committee will study the recently adopted Borough ordinance, study the dozen Township historic sites already recommended, and make recommendations for a Township ordinance. Members of Township Committee were cool to the idea of having representatives on the ad hoc committee from institutions located wholly or in part in the Township, such as Princeton University, Princeton Seminary and the Institute for Advanced Study.

Sixth Garbage District. An ordinance creating a sixth municipal garbage collection district was introduced and passed unanimously on first reading. The cost would be apportioned among residents on the basis of their property assessments. A homeowner whose property assessment was 10 percent of the total assessment for all properties in the district would pay 10 percent of the cost of having garbage picked up and disposed. The public hearing on this ordinance will be June 10.

Committee also received bids for garbage pick-up for the existing five districts. The lowest bid of $80,110 was submitted by Intracity Waste Co. of Trenton. The next lowest bid was in excess of $178,000. But Intracity's bid had not followed all the specifications, so Attorney Schmierer ruled that this could not be accepted.

Committee decided to re-advertise the bid and to try to simplify the bidding procedure.

A Japanese Garden

By Charles Peterson

Let us create for you the peace and tranquility of a Japanese garden. No area is too large or too small that it can't be turned into a "mirror of nature," the ideal of every Japanese garden.

With simplicity the key, we can build ponds and cascades where falling water will impart a tranquil mood. An arching bridge can reflect in the water or lead the viewer on a relaxing walk. The graceful branches of weeping trees can add serenity to your garden. A Japanese lantern, carefully placed, can illuminate your path or reflect nearby branches. Stepping stones and meandering paths can add an aesthetic touch and also offer a firm surface for safely walking.

If the naturalness and beauty of a Japanese garden appeals to you, please call Charles Peterson at Peterson's Nursery, 924-5770, for an appointment.

At Back Door Gallery, Laura Doscher, the attractive young director of the Back Door Gallery, has known since the age of four that she wanted to be involved in art. As the daughter of two educators, she received a wide exposure to the fine arts, which she has pursued ever since, gathering several degrees in the field from schools in Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and Rhode Island. She brings a wealth of experience in conservatory work, restoration being one of her many talents, plus a diverse taste and sound knowledge of the finest painters and sculptors in the area, some of whom may not be particularly well known, and a refreshing enthusiasm for the monthly shows which she hangs in the gallery.

"There is a remarkable interest in art in Princeton. There just isn't enough space in our few galleries to make art accessible enough to the public, although the corporate spaces are excellent," says Miss Doscher, who expanded the frame shop owned by Princeton Camera Center into a gallery in January. It is conveniently located in the back of the Princeton Shopping Center — thus the name Back Door Gallery. Although space is limited to one- or two-person shows, Miss Doscher feels this gives the viewer a better opportunity to enjoy what the artist has accomplished.

"I personally dislike art hanging from the ceiling to the floor. A small gallery makes it feasible to understand what the artist is trying to achieve. A personal connection to art is so important," explains Miss Doscher, who continues her framing business in addition to the monthly exhibitions. The gallery was a natural outgrowth of the frame shop, which has been active for six years. It is a great plus for business, the director maintains, because customers know frame shop work done there and trust the work done there. The frame shop services range from the task of redoing family pictures, to backing posters with foamcore or putting them behind lucite, to selecting the proper frame for a 1500-year-old rubbing which she recently restored.

Painstaking Restoration. Restoration takes intense concentration, a fascinating yet time-consuming process, according to Miss Doscher. It requires understanding the "nature of the work on paper or canvas, cleaning of oils, repairing, removing stains, plus several techniques demanding a knowledge of chemistry." Miss Doscher, who concurs with the old adage, "slow and steady wins the race," likens the restoration process to chess where one draws on every reserve, educated methods, and creativity. She recently spent 10 hours on a Sunday restoring one painting!

Of course the greatest emphasis of the Back Door Gallery is fine art. It opened with Michael Kingsford's cityscapes. Beth Schoenleber's watercolors, which come down soon, have received a good amount of attention. They feature familiar area scenes such as "Mary Watts," "The Hen House," "Cox's General Store," "The Barn Window," and "Lake Carnegie." Martha Vaughn's photographs of the far east enjoyed great acclaim in April. They include exotic scenes such as a mosque in Lahore, Malaysia, wine containers from Nikko, Japan, colorful scenes of the streets of Singapore, and a blue doorway from Bali.

On Friday evening the paintings in watercolor by Sylvette de Aldrey-Krause will open. This exhibit will run through June 27th. A native of Puerto Rico and resident of Princeton, the artist has had several successful exhibitions in this area.

"The dynamics of our next show are sensational. Mrs. Aldrey-Krause's series of wisteria watercolors are exquisite and her abstract form and style will create a total spring environment in the gallery, ideal for this time of year," according to Miss Doscher. The L.A. Doscher Association places shows and does some corporate work for the 14 artists whom it represents. She enjoys taking one genre of art, finding new talented people who have not had the exposure other artists enjoy, and exhibiting their work. The works of a group of highly-acclaimed artists such as Charles McVicker, Lucy McVicker, and Marvin Friedman, an award-winning abstractionist, will be shown from August through November.

"I'm a perfectionist, and so are most of our customers so I try to take care of this one part of their lives. They seem to want to come back, though several of them could go anywhere they want to for framing and restoration. They come here where they know the job will be done well," concludes Miss Doscher.

Hours at the Back Door Gallery are from 9 to 5:30 Monday through Saturday and until 8 on Friday evenings.

forethought in selecting beautiful cards of congratulations for graduations, marriages, first Communions, and baptisms. The Country Mouse specializes in the finest quality greeting cards, special ones which are not found elsewhere. Owner Cynthia Bittering has a flair for choosing cards and gifts of good taste and she knows her market here in Princeton well. While some may prefer the off-color variety, such cards will not be found in her tiny shop, which is presently festooned with Princeton memorabilia, stuffed animals, posters, mugs, and even hand-screened writing paper with tigers printed on it.

There is nothing stagnant about the Country Mouse, which keeps in step with the ever-changing desires of girls big and small and increasingly caters to the taste of boys who like things which make a lot of noise and move around!

"Wanna-be's," that is the younger female set who "wanna be" like rock star Madonna, will revel in all of the Country Mouse's accessories — rubber bracelets, glittery bangles and rings, even the tiny barrettes of plastic like the ones Madonna wears in her hair! "Wanna-be's" will surely enjoy sending off notes on neon-colored paper. If you would like to please your favorite little girl, The Country Mouse has a whole slew of suggestions on what is current — probably because Mrs. Bittering has two little girls herself. Her third child, a son William, now 2½, has made her realize that the shop must carry some things for little boys. A good thought for a boy's birthday present might be a dinosaur hat, mug, or button, jumping or wind-up toys, even croaking frogs or baa-ing sheep.

Mice Galore. Tiny mouse figures, a trademark of one of Princeton's favorite shops, are all lined up ready to graduate this spring. Vincent van Duck and the Statue of Liberty duck make fun gifts, as do the ever-popular multi-colored wind socks and kites which decorate the ceiling so handsomely. Look for the tiger poster on the ceiling and the Barnum and Bailey one for only $6 — a good birthday gift for a youngster.

The greeting card section will yield unusual items such as beautiful cards printed with Dover prints by Judy Miller Olcott, hand-cut mobiles, and paper dolls, which have enjoyed a comeback. The selection of children's books, hardcover and paperback, features classics and the finest new publications available, a tribute to Mrs. Bittering's good taste.

She still loves her collection of bears, the best in town, and Scotties are very much in evidence. A colorful beach ball of the globe and large plastic sand letters are educational toys for summer time. Youngsters will delight in the dancing bears from Russia. The wind-up brown bears priced at $18 play the guitar, dance, eat ice cream and drink honey from a jug. A terrific graduation present with a bit of humor might be a reasonably-priced authentic gumball machine, perfect to take along to college or graduate school. The Country Mouse also sells sugarless gumballs to save the student's teeth.

Father's Day will soon be here. The Country Mouse has a number of creative gift ideas for Dad, such as a Papa Bear apron, ideal for outside barbecues this summer, special kits from England, tins fitted with shaving items, bar accessories, or an auto cleaning kit. Woodcuts of hunting scenes might appeal to your favorite Dad.

Hostess Gifts. The shop also abounds in clever hostess gifts. A sale on Blanchard and Blanchard marinades, jams, mustards, and vinegars, or Casell and Massey soaps are good thoughts to take along on a weekend. Sets of matching potholders and dishtowels in country prints and lovely vases of Swedish glass are nice presents, beginning at $9.

The Country Mouse may have its trendy bangles, but it also offers a nice collection of better jewelry including enameled hand-wrought pieces, Viennese bracelets, silver, and handsome semi-precious beads combined with gold.

Looking for creative ideas for parties? The Country Mouse has all the accoutrements for successful party-giving. In addition to lovely papers for gift wrapping, invitations, ribbons and bows, look at the new card masks which will amuse your guests at the table. The masks are faces of President Ronald Reagan in former movie roles, Albert Einstein, Princess Diana and other celebrities.

"Where in Princeton can you find so many things?" asks the owner of The Country Mouse. Hours are from 9 to 6 Monday through Saturday.

Teenagers

Joshua Teweles, a student at Princeton High School, did know.

A recent student council poll showed that more than 50 percent of kids want lights, he said. They also want support of the arts, an all-night cafe to hang out in but not drink beer, a varsity letterman club, car pooling to sporting events in high schools outside Princeton, and new books.

"People love this school," said Tom Thompson, incoming student council president. "Lights are secondary. We want somewhere to go, things to do, things to help us get together and unify."

Pam Fisher, the mother of two boys in the high school, characterized the problem as both a lack of social life around the high school and a lack of a spirit of belonging.

"My husband I didn't grow up in Princeton," she said. "We grew up in a far different place and time. We have some of the best educated high school kids in the nation, but I don't think the kids have the focus for the kind of fun we had in high school."

"The focus of our social life was almost exclusively around the high school. I don't see any sense here of belonging to a whole. Kids need to belong," she said.

The lack of a social life for kids and the fact that there's nothing to do but have beer parties won't be cured by six to ten night games a year, added Mr. Winarsky.

The idea of a teen club — a gathering place for PHS students as well as teenagers attending private schools — was, over the course of the meeting, becoming a leit-motiv.

"At least if you had a teen club, you'd know where your children are," said Mary Jean DeAndrea. It would give them a place to hang out besides the Pizza Star.

"Whatever there is in town requires that you pay to become a member," she said, "and there are a lot of poor kids in town."

Ms. DeAndrea added that the experience of the high school night games held last year at the University fields was "fantastic."

Princeton University has offered to allow the high school to play six night games a year for the next three years on its lighted fields.

The subject of lights prompted Sports Illuminated co-chairman Betty Klingebiel to suggest that the group might still wish to light a field — perhaps the one at John Witherspoon Middle School.

Karlfrid Fröchlich suggested, however, that the use of the University fields over the next three years will provide an excellent opportunity to try out how good the idea is. "It would be a great mistake to thrust a white elephant on the students."

At this point, the idea of a teen center moved to center stage. In response to suggestions that the high school gym be used for this purpose, Joshua Teweles said that the kids would not want to go there. "They feel they're in here from 8 to 5:30 for sports, and they don't want to go back."

The possibility of using the gym at the Valley Road Building for a teen center was raised. School Superintendent Paul Houston said that, although he couldn't commit the board, he felt it would be interested in such a proposal.

The money would go toward salaries and equipment, he said, and raised for the first time at the meeting the possibility that the Borough and Township governments might have a role to play in these community concerns. Dr. Houston suggested the bringing together of government, the school board and the public to address the concerns about youth being expressed at the meeting.

Mrs. Klingebiel had noted earlier that the Council of Community Services and the town's churches might be willing to get together to do something for youth, but they wouldn't do anything "until we take the first step. We have to be the catalyst."

A comment that the efforts of the Joint Recreation Department he enlisted — and the question of why it wasn't involved already — drew approving comments from many in the audience.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Peter Smith asked for volunteers to join the Sports Illuminated committee and work to develop some kind of program for Princeton's youth.

He said that he would probably call another meeting, after huddling with the executive committee to see if it agrees. "Maybe we can discuss the shift from a fund-raising group for lights to an advocacy group for teenagers."

Mr. Smith added that he was feeling positive, and that's where he'd like to keep it. "The last half hour has left me feeling much better about the kids."

As people were leaving the meeting, Mr. Smith said that five persons had signed up for the committee.

MERGER ANNOUNCED

By Science Associates. Science Associates, Princeton, is now a subsidiary of Qualimetrix, Inc., of Sacramento, Calif. Daniel Mazzarella, 121 Magnolia Lane, will continue as president and the present staff will be retained. It will, however, be augmented by additional personnel from California.

Science Associates, which serves users of meteorological instruments and systems, was begun in 1946 as a partnership between David Ludlum, whose specialty was meteorology, and Armand Spitz, whose interests lay in astronomy. Upon Mr. Ludlum's retirement in 1983, Mr. Mazzarella purchased the assets of the company. The following year, it moved from Nassau Street to its present Princeton Airport location.

MICHAEL GRAVES PICKED

To Design Whitney Addition. Princeton Architect Michael Graves has been selected to design an expansion of the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York.

The major components of the proposed Graves addition include 40,000 square feet of exhibition space for a continuing installation of the Permanent collection; a 250-seat theater; an orientation gallery; an expanded library and study center; and additional office and support space.

It is estimated that the proposed building program, including construction of the addition and renovations of the present building, will cost approximately $37.5 million.

"It is a particular challenge for an architect to combine a modern monument such as Marcel Breuer's original Whitney with the more elaborated facades of the prevailing context," said Mr. Graves. "We have attempted to use to our advantage the apparent contradiction of modernity versus a more figurative architecture."

OFFICE WINS AWARD

For Design Firm. Corporate headquarters designed for J. M. Huber in Edison by The Hillier Group, architects, planners and interior designers, was selected as one of three Offices of the Year by Office Administration and Automation magazine. The office was selected from among offices nationwide which were opened for use in 1984.

J.M. Huber's corporate headquarters was selected for its operational effectiveness, flexibility and state-of-the-art technology. A detailed description of the office is featured in the May issue of the magazine.

QUARTERLY DIVIDENDS

Declared by Gulton. The board of directors of Gulton Industries, Inc. declared a dividend on its common stock of 15 cents per common share, payable June 1 to shareholders of record on May 17, 1985.

The board also voted a quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share on the Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock — $2 Series A. This dividend is also payable on June 1.

Congratulations Graduates and Parents!

As you set your course toward the college of your choice, let Nassau Savings help meet your financial needs with a low-interest Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL), or Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS).

Nassau Savings is a participating lender in the Higher Education Loan Programs. More than 200 educational institutions in New Jersey, and many out-of-state, take part in the GSL and PLUS programs. So select your college and let us help with the financing.

Even if your adjusted family income exceeds $30,000, you may meet GSL qualifications (subject to a financial needs analysis). If you do not qualify, or if you need additional funds, the PLUS program may be the answer to your family's tuition requirements. Home Equity loans for educational purposes are also available to qualified applicants.

For information about the GSL and PLUS programs, talk to our Student Loan Officer at 192 Nassau Street, or phone 924-4498 for an appointment to discuss your college plans.

BULLETIN NOTES
Susan W. Reiman and Lea Shimshoni have been selected as the first recipients of the Teacher Excellence Award at The Jewish Center. The award was established by Dorothy and Tibor Fabian to honor outstanding teachers at the Religious School. Mrs. Reiman, who lives in Princeton, has B.S. and M.S. degrees in education and a bachelor of Hebrew Literature degree. She has been teaching for more than 19 years. She also is a professional storyteller and writer and received the 1984/85 fellowship in poetry from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts. Lea Shimshoni grew up in a kibbutz in Israel and served in the Israeli Army as a lieutenant responsible for welfare and education in a number of units. She received a B.A. in political science and history from Hebrew University, specializing in secondary school education. She has been living in Princeton and teaching at The Jewish Center Religious School for the past three years.

The China Program Committee of the National Council of Churches, headquartered in New York City, has made a grant of $5,000 to the China Mission Resources Project at the Robert E. Speer Library of Princeton Theological Seminary. The project is preparing a comprehensive guide to resources related to the development of the church in China.

Princeton United Methodist Church will hold a Vacation Church School Monday through Friday, July 22 to 26, from 9 a.m. to noon. The program is open to children ages four through 12. Pre-registration before June 8 is encouraged. The church is located at the corner of Vandeventer and Nassau Streets. To receive a registration form, call the church office 924-2613, on weekdays until 2 p.m. A donation of $5 per child ($10 maximum per family) is asked. Children — and teachers — from all denominations are invited to participate in this program, which will feature crafts, music, stories and games. A nursery for teachers' children will be provided.

Nassau Presbyterian Church will hold a special congregational meeting Sunday immediately following the 10 a.m. worship service. The purpose of the meeting is to hear and act upon a recommendation from the Session (governing body of the church) to undertake a building and renovation project and to undertake a capital campaign in order to finance it.

St. Paul Church will sponsor a Children's Mass on Sunday at 11 at Quarry Park. Participants should bring lawn chairs or blankets on which to sit. Each person is also asked to bring an item of non-perishable food which will be presented during the Offertory Procession. The food will be taken to Anchor House, a home for runaways in Trenton. In case of rain, Mass will be held in the Church Hall.

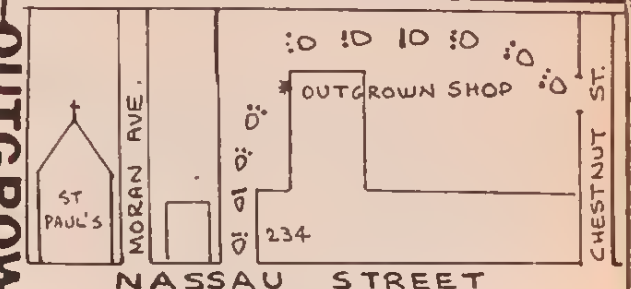

A film documenting the presentation of the Beyond War Award to recipients in San Francisco and Moscow will be shown at Nassau Presbyterian Church Friday at 7:30 p.m. Dr. Chazov and Dr. Lown, who accepted the award on behalf of their organization, are the co-founders of the International Physicians for the Prevention of Nuclear War.

This television conference, held last December 14, was the first link of this kind between those two cities, and was made possible by the cooperative international use of communications satellites.

Everyone is welcome. For information call Anita Bash at 655-8498 or Barbara Livingston, 392-0946.

Remodelling a barn - a project which appeals to many but is rarely brought to reality. With the help of a prominent architect, this dream came true. The tall stone foundation provides walls for the lower level and blends well with the vertical weathered cedar siding. Two horse stalls are a vivid reminder of the original use of the building. The major portion of the barn is now a "Great Room" with wide floor boards and an impressive free standing circular stone fireplace. The dining room is separate, the large kitchen modern. The master bedroom, bath and second bedroom complete the first floor. On one side of the "Great Room" a spiral stair leads to a loft/study. On the other side, a contemporary stair leads to a second loft/study, three bedrooms and bath. Out buildings include two more horse stalls and wood shed - all on 1 plus acres.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

A LAWN IN THE SHADE OF A TREE with Sam DeTuro Woodwinds Associates

The secret of growing grass under a shade tree is balance; your lawn trees and the grass beneath them are in constant competition for both food and sunshine. The trick is to try to give each one its share!!

When a tree is shallow-rooted it robs your lawn of the food and moisture you so carefully supply. If you're not specifically feeding the trees, the roots grow toward the surface to get what they need. The answer, then is to feed the tree, using a well balanced tree food injected directly into the area of the roots. This will help in developing the roots at their proper level. To balance the sunshine, a tree can be thinned by pruning, so that sunlight will filter through to the grass. A good practice, too, is to raise the branch level by pruning away lower limbs which won't be missed anyway.

If all else fails, consider a ground cover planted beneath your trees. Pachysandra often does much better a job than Penwinkle or English Ivy.

Do call WOODWINDS (924-3500) if you have any questions or concerns. We are always glad to help!!

Friends of Music Honor Princeton Musician Edward Cone With Concert Marking His Retirement from Teaching

Edward T. Cone, whose life as a composer, pianist, teacher, scholar and writer on musical subjects has been centered at Princeton for 50 years, was honored Sunday.

The occasion was a concert sponsored by the Friends of Music at Princeton to honor Prof. Cone upon his retirement from teaching in the Princeton University Music Department. Held in Richardson Hall, the concert featured the world premiere of Mr. Cone's Quartet for Piano and Strings.

Written in 1983, the work was commissioned by Frank Taplin, to whom it is also dedicated. It is one of 11 pieces involving the piano in some combination that Mr. Taplin, an avid pianist and chamber music player himself, has commissioned of contemporary composers in order to increase the repertoire of chamber pieces with piano.

An intricate, intellectual piece with nonetheless sustained melodies and even, to this listener, moments of humor, the piece was given a superb reading by Elizabeth Michaels, violinist, Linda dy, cello. They played also Robert Schumann's Quartet in E-flat Major, Opus 47, a juxtaposition which pointed up the inherent Romanticism in the Cone piece as well.

Edward T. Cone
Musician of Multiple Talents

Prof. Cone was named to a full professorship in 1960. Over the years he taught all the undergraduate theory courses, as well as composition and advanced theory to graduate students. He also taught the introductory music appreciation course and initiated the opera and Beethoven courses as well as an undergraduate course in contemporary music.

He served twice as acting chairman of the department and since 1969 has been a continuing Fellow of the Council of the Humanities.

But teaching, from which Prof. Cone is retiring this year, is only one facet of his musical career. Princeton Praised by President. Before the music-making began, Princeton President William G. Bowen spoke of Prof. Cone as "one of those rare individuals who somehow is able to do everything well" and praised him for his "intelligence, integrity and keen sensitivity." A native of Greensboro, N.C., where his family ran a successful textile operation, Prof. Cone entered Princeton as a freshman 50 years ago this fall.

It was the year that Roy Dickinson Welch came from Smith College to start a music department at Princeton. Welch in turn brought the composer Roger Sessions. Ed Cone studied with Sessions for seven years and later was his colleague in the Music Department. An A-plus student, according to President Bowen, in every class he took, from art to zoology, Mr. Cone was designated Latin Salutatorian of his class and was the first undergraduate to have an original musical composition accepted as a senior thesis.

Following graduation, he did advanced work in musicology for two years at Columbia University, returning to Princeton in 1941-42 to be one of the first to receive the degree of Master of Fine Arts in Music and to begin his teaching career.

The war came along, and he spent the next three years with the Office of Strategic Services in Egypt and what was then Palestine, getting out, he says, "just before things got hot." He was one of the first recipients of a Woodrow Wilson Fellowship to continue his graduate studies at Princeton in the hopes that he would become a college teacher.

Forty Years on the Faculty. He rejoined the Princeton faculty in 1946 as an instructor in music and was honored that same year when his Let Us Now Praise Famous Men was commissioned as the commemorative anthem of the University's Bicentennial celebration. In 1947, the year he was appointed assistant professor, he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship in musical composition.

PAINTINGS BY PATRICIA TISA PENZA will be on exhibit at the Hopewell Frame Shop and Gallery through June 29. This is the last show in the gallery's '84-'85 season.

ART

EXHIBITS

Patricia T. Penza will exhibit her paintings at the Hopewell Frame Shop and Gallery through June 29. The artist is known for her bold use of color and for a style which develops recognizable images through colored shapes. Ms. Penza's work is the final exhibit of the gallery's 1984-85 season. It will reopen this fall.

The gallery, open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, is located at Hopewell House Square, Broad and Mercer Streets.

Princeton Gallery of Fine Art will present a major exhibition of works by Louise Nevelson. The show, which will open June 1, will feature a large wall sculpture as well as many lithographs, aquatints, paper reliefs, and cast sculpture.

Ms. Nevelson is recognized as one of the foremost sculptors of our times. Her powerful constructions — particularly her enormous walls and rooms — rank high among the monumental art of the 20th century.

Now in her eighties, Ms. Nevelson continues to be artistically active and is exploring different mediums of expression.

The gallery is open 10 to 5 Tuesday through Friday and 11 to 5 on Saturday. For further information call 921-8123.

"Princeton and the Iberian World," an exhibition of books, manuscripts, and maps, will be on display in Firestone Library through July 21.

Assembled by Peter T. Johnson and Patricia H. Marks, the show represents a selective sampling of the University's resources on Spain, Portugal, and Latin America in the library's special collections, the Gest Oriental and East Asian collections, the Near Eastern collections and the art museum. Many of the books are on loan from the William H. Scheide library, which is housed in Firestone.

Christopher Columbus' letter to Fernando and Isabel, written when he landed at Lisbon upon returning from his first voyage to America, and describing the natives he had seen, is included in the exhibit. The manuscript of the letter was taken to Rome by a Cardinal visiting the Spanish court in Barcelona, and it caused a sensation. It was published nine times in 1493, and the copy in the show is from the first edition.

Also on display are Hernan Cortes' letter of 1522 describing the wonders of a great Indian city in Mexico. Amerigo Vespucci's description of his four voyages to the New World, published in Florence in 1505-1506, and King Alfonso X's Tobulae Astronomicoe, published in Venice in 1483, a book of charts based on the work of Arabic astronomers in Spain. These tables made possible the voyages of Spanish and Portuguese explorers.

Many views of the New World, ranging from engravings of the Brazilian jungle to cities and ports of South America, may also be seen in the exhibit. The gallery in Firestone is open Monday-Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 9 to noon, 1 to 5 p.m., and Sunday, 2 to 5 p.m.

Ronad L. Harrower, 32 Jefferson Road, will have an exhibit of photographs at the Montgomery National Bank, Routes 206 and 518, from June 5 to July 6.

The images represent six months of travel in New Zealand, Australia and the Pacific Northwest.

Mr. Harrower kept a written and photographic journal on the natural history of New Zealand and Australia. He spent two months in each country, visiting wildlife refuges and taking note of the diverse bird and marsupial life as well as of the landscapes.

"Revolutionary Soldiers," an installation by Hank Stevens, is currently on display at the Art People Place. This is an installation of some 25 painted cardboard flags, each roughly five-and-a-half inches high, inspired by a small dilapidated cemetery near Valley Forge.

MUSIC

ORCHESTRA WINS PRIZE For New Music. The Chamber Symphony of Princeton has won the national first prize in the ASCAP (American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers) awards.

These awards are for the programming of new music and are presented annually to American orchestras in several categories. The Chamber Symphony won its award in the category of orchestras with annual operating budgets of under $115,000.

Portia Sonnenfeld, music director of the Chamber Symphony, will accept the first prize award at the national convention of the American Symphony Orchestra League in San Francisco on June 14. The prize includes a cash award and a plaque commemorating the orchestra's commitment to new music programming during the past season.

The new works which the Chamber Symphony of Princeton has programmed during its five years include pieces by Andrzej Panufnik, Edward T. Cone, Joelle Willach, Harold Oliver, Peter S. Lewis, Stanley Austin, Ernesto Cardero, Michael Blake Watkins, Samuel Barber and Elliott Carter. Performances of less recent compositions of the 20th century have included Schoenberg, Stravinsky, Vaughan Williams, Paulenc, Milhaud, Copland, Hindemith, and William Grant Still, as well as such turn of the century figures as Debussy, Ravel, Joplin, and Ives.

OPERA TO GAIN
From Rehearsal Dinner. A maypole, with all its ribbons, flowers, and evocations of spring, will be the focal point for the June Opera Festival of New Jersey's second annual gala benefit, scheduled for Sunday, June 23, at 5 p.m. The event, which raised more than $18,000 for last year's festival, will be held again on the lawns of The Lawrenceville School.

This year the festival's patrons are invited to attend the final dress rehearsal of the first act of Albert Herring, Benjamin Britten's comic opera about the plight of a young man chosen to be King of the May. Immediately after the rehearsal, cocktails and a buffet dinner will be served under the opera tent, which will be decorated to carry out the maypole theme.

Patrons will also receive orchestra seats for the festival's opening night performance of Albert Herring, which takes place Tuesday, June 25, at 7:30, and will be invited to a champagne reception that evening during the intermission between Acts Two and Three.

Mrs. Wade C. Stephens is chairman of the patrons committee. The dinner will be catered by Jimmy Duffy and Sons of Princeton and Philadelphia.

The June Opera Festival received critical acclaim for its opening season presentation of Mozart's The Marriage of Figaro last year. This year's season will include, in addition to the new production of Albert Herring, a new production of Mozart's Don Giovanni, sung in English, and two concerts.

For information on becoming a patron or ordering tickets, call the festival box office at 683-5468.

NEW MUSIC OFFERED

By Grad Students. A concert of new music by Princeton University graduate students and Australian composer Graham Hair will be presented on Thursday, May 30, at 8:30 p.m. in Woolworth Center on the University campus.

The program will include Clarinet Quartet by David Kowalski, with Bob Stanley, clarinet, Neal Blackman, violin, Hannah Brickman, cello and Bruce Brubaker, piano; and Life and Love, a song cycle based on three poems by Elizabeth Barrett Browning, by Reynold Simpson, featuring Michelle Disco, soprano and Reynold Simpson, piano.

Princeton senior, Thomas Hornyak, will perform several of his own compositions for piano, and works by Robert Bourne and Graham Hair will be presented.

Mr. Hair lives in Sydney, Australia, and is currently visiting professor of music at the Lawrenceville School.

Sponsored by the Friends of Music, admission is free.

ARRANGEMENTS FOCUS
Of Concert on Campus. A concert of arrangements and transcriptions by Princeton University faculty and graduate students in music of renowned classical and romantic works will be given on Friday, May 31, at 8:30 p.m. at Woolworth Center on the University campus. Sponsored by the Friends of Music, admission is free.

The program will include the third movement of Mendelssohn's Italian Symphony for piano solo, a violoncello and piano version of "The Devil's Dance" from Stravinsky's L'Histoire du Soldat, songs by Schubert, Webern and Messaien arranged for voice and chamber ensemble.

Also featured will be keyboard works by Rameau, Beethoven, Brahms and Berg arranged for string ensemble. Performers will include Aleck Karis, piano, Charles Curtis, cello, Jayn Rosenfeld, flute, Beth Wiemann, clarinet and soprano Michelle Disco.

Traditionally, a composer's training involved making arrangements of works of the masters. Bach transcribed Vivaldi and Mozart and Beethoven made new performing arrangements of Bach's works. Although 20th-century recording technology has made pieces widely available in their original format and thus rendered arranging less of a necessity, some contemporary composers, Princeton University faculty and graduate students among them, have kept up the practice.

FINAL CONCERT HERE

Before Summer Tour. The Princeton University Chamber Chorus, conducted by Prof. Walter Nollner, will sing a concert in the Princeton University Chapel on Friday, June 7, at 8.

The concert will be the last appearance in Princeton of this group before it embarks on its summer tour of Europe. Admission is free and the public invited.

The program will begin with the unaccompanied Missa Pange Lingua by the Renaissance composer Josquin Des Prez. A group of motets will follow, by Johann Sebastian Bach, Thomas Tallis and Heinrich Schutz. Tallis died in 1585, the year Schutz was born, and Bach was born 100 years later, in 1685.

The Chamber Chorus will also sing the American chantey Shennandoah, followed by an English folksong, four American spirituals and a group of Princeton songs.

The Princeton University Chamber Chorus is made up of members of the Princeton University Glee Club and the Princeton University Chapel Choir, both conducted by Prof. Nollner. This will be its sixth summer tour to Europe. The itinerary includes performances in major cathedrals and concert halls in Vienna, Budapest, Prague, Dubrovnik, Athens, Venice and Paris. No more than three concerts are sung a week, so that members of the group will have some chance to become acquainted with the cities they visit and their inhabitants. Other summer tours have taken the Chamber Chorus to South America in 1971, around the world in 1980 and to the Far East in 1983.

DEBUT THIS SUNDAY
For Chamber Chorus. The Chamber Chorus of Princeton Pro Musica, conducted by Francis Slade, will perform at 8 p.m. this Sunday at Christ Congregation. This event will mark the debut of the newly-formed Chamber Chorus, a group of 30 singers selected from the larger chorus of the organization. The largest work of this a capella program will be Philadelphia Vincent Persichetti's Mass, a contemporary work with strong Renaissance overtones. The program will also include Brahms' Marienlieder, Josquin's Ave Maria, songs by Billings, and Negro Spirituals.

Tickets for this concert, and reception afterward, are $5, or $3 for students and senior citizens. Proceeds will go to Christ Congregation's Organ Fund. For further information, call 924-3786. The Chamber Chorus is available to perform for schools, organizations, residential communities and business groups. Programs will feature a capella music from the Renaissance to the 20th century. For booking information call 683-5122.

CHAMBER MUSIC
In the Afternoon. An afternoon of chamber music by Schubert, Brahms and Beethoven will be offered Sunday at 3 in the Nassau Presbyterian Church. Performers will be Lisa Teem Bell, clarinet, Ted McClure, cello, Sue Ellen Page, soprano and Kathryn Lewus Wemer, piano.

Formerly a member of the Cleveland Wind Quintet, Ms. Bell is participating in the music program at the church and will teach privately. Ms. Page is director of music ministry for children and performed here in Amahl and the Night Visitors.

Mr. McClure performs with Princeton's Collegium Musicum and Ms. Wemer, who has performed and taught in Florida, Indiana and New Jersey, is currently concentrating on teaching. There is no admission fee, but donations will benefit the Trinity Counseling Center and the church music program.

SUMMER WORKSHOP
In Opera. A summer Opera Workshop will be offered for the first time by Rutgers University's Mason Gross School of the Arts. Conducted by Valerie Goodall, director of the Rutgers opera program, the workshop will meet from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays between June 25 and July 16. Both graduate and undergraduate credits are offered for the course, which is open to advanced singers of all ages.

An associate professor at Rutgers, Miss Goodall spent six years in Europe as leading lyric soprano in opera houses in Geneva, Berne, Vienna, Graz and Prague, as well as at major summer festivals.

In this country she has been seen in many musical theater roles, in addition to opera, oratorio and recital. She has recorded for London Records.

Registration materials are available through the Rutgers Summer Session Office, 122 College Avenue, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903. The registration deadline is June 7. The cost of the workshop is $52 for undergraduate students and $85 for graduate students.

KING'S COLLEGE HERE
In September Concert. The Trinity All-Saints' Concerts Committee will sponsor a concert by the King's College Chapel Choir from Cambridge University. The concert will take place September 18 in Princeton University Chapel.

The King's College Chapel Choir is known to most Americans through its recordings. Comprised of 30 male voices, with ages ranging from seven to 20, the members are chosen in competition from applicants all over the British Isles.

MUSIC MORNINGS SET
For Young Children. Marjorie's Music will offer a morning music program for children age 3 to 6 from June 10 to 20 at the Arts Council building.

For an hour and a half each morning, children will play musical games, hear musical stories, play and make instruments, learn notation reading, create their own stories and plays and watch table puppet shows performed by Marjorie Holcombe Herrington. Ms. Holcombe Herrington was trained at the Salzburg Orff Institute in Austria, at the Dalcroze School of Music in New York City and at Westminster Choir College.

For information on this and other music programs, call Ms. Ermolaev in May at 921-1008.

News of The THEATRES

TITLES ANNOUNCED
Of Movies at Kresge. McCarter Theatre's ninth season of Summer Cinema will open on Wednesday, June 12, with the first of 14 double feature films at Kresge Auditorium.
In the course of the 12-week season, which will conclude on Labor Day, September 2, the series will show 34 different movies. The schedule for most of the season will include double features on most nights, although three films will be shown as single features due to their length.

McCarter is offering a 10-admission discount coupon book for $30, representing a savings of 20 percent over the cost of single admissions. The 10 coupons are usable in any combination desired throughout the season, subject only to the availability of seats. Single admission is $3.50 for all programs.

The opening week program, June 12-17, will actually include three different titles, all focusing on the common theme of the family. The 1983 Oscar-winning movie Terms of Endearment will be shown each night, with two different second features, Ordinary People June 12-14 and Country June 15-17. Ordinary People won the 1984 Oscar for Best Picture, and Country stars Jessica Lange as a farmer's wife who holds her family together when the government threatens to foreclose on the mortgage.

The second week of the season, June 19-26, will include a pairing of Woody Allen's Broadway Danny Rose and Truffaut's Day for Night, the first of four Truffaut films which will be shown throughout the summer in tribute to the great French director who dies last year at the age of 52.

Bernardo Bertolucci's four-hour epic 1900 will be shown as a single feature for four nights, the first of three films to be shown as a single feature. The others, later in the summer, are Ermanno Olmi's The Tree of Wooden Clogs and Sir Richard Attenborough's Gandhi.

Subsequent double features will include Stanley Kubrick's A Clockwork Orange and Ridley Scott's Blade Runner, starring Harrison Ford; a July 4 holiday week comedy pairing of All of Me, with Steve Martin and Lily Tomlin, plus Ron Howard's Splash, with Darryl Hannah as a mermaid who falls in love with a mortal;

Also, Brian de Palma's Body Double and Clint Eastwood's Tightrope; and Purple Rain, featuring the screen debut of rock star Prince, paired with This Is Spinal Tap, an affectionate spoof of the pop music scene written and directed by Rob Reiner. Purple Rain and Spinal Tap will become a triple feature for two nights when they will be joined by the Rolling Stones' 1982 concert film, Let's Spend the Night Together.

The Vietnam War is the focus of Francis Ford Coppola's Apocalypse Now, to be shown with Wolfgang Peterson's Das Boot, while young love is the focus of Bill Forsythe's Gregory's Girl and Truffaut's Stolen Kisses. Ma Nuit Chez Maud, the second of writer-director Eric Rohmer's "moral tales," will be shown with the screen adaptation of Harold Pinter's stage hit Betrayal, starring Jeremy Irons and Ben Kingsley.

Two quite different variations on the traditional "menage a trois" theme will be featured in Bernard Blier's Get Out Your Handkerchiefs and Truffaut's Jules and Jim, while two masters of the epic action film, Japan's Akira Kurosawa and the late Sam Peckinpah, will be represented by Kagemusha and The Wild Bunch, respectively.

Another double feature will combine Daniel Vigne's The Return of Martin Guerre and

'GODSPELL' PLAYING

At Bucks County. Godspell, the popular rock musical adaptation of the Gospel according to St. Matthew, is on stage at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope, Pa. this weekend.

One of the major long-running off-Broadway successes in New York, the stage hit has been acclaimed by clergy, critics, educators and audiences in the U.S., and throughout the world for its joyful message, exuberance and simple sincerity.

The cast includes ten zany, exuberant young people who shine as they clown through pantomime, slapstick, and song and dance to act out parables. Presiding as head clown is Christ, dressed in red suspenders, striped pants and a Superman shirt, who personally leads his romping disciples through a carnival of antics.

Reservations may be made by calling the box office at (215) 862-2041.

BALLET SCHOOL DUE

To Open in September. The Princeton American Ballet will open this September at the Princeton Montessori School on Cherry Valley Road.

Established in 1974, Princeton American Ballet, formerly The New Hope Ballet Academy, will offer beginning through advanced students the opportunity to study with Gloria Govrin, a protege of the late George Balanchine. As the founder of Princeton American Ballet, Ms. Govrin is experienced as dancer, teacher and choreographer. She was a soloist in New York City Ballet for 15 years.

Ms. Govrin will offer classes in classical ballet technique as well as performing opportunities with her newly established company, The Govrin Ballet.

For those interested in seeing what the school will offer, the annual spring concert of The New Hope Ballet Academy will be held at Hunterdon Central High School, Route 31, Flemington, on Saturday, June 8 at 8 p.m. For further information call 397-3365.

dancing musical parody of the old Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler movies. Robert and Julie Thick are co-producers.

The season begins with Jacques Brel Is Alive and Well and Living in Paris, which runs from June 14 through July 20. Next is Neil Simon's The Odd Couple, running July 24 through August 24, followed by the fairy tale musical Once Upon a Mattress, August 30 through October 5. Wait Until Dark, a nerve-wracking mystery, is scheduled for October 11 through November 9.

Dames at Sea tap dances its way onstage November 15 through December 21, poking fun at Hollywood musicals of the 1930s. Performances are Friday and Saturday evenings with dessert at 7 and curtain at 8. Sunday matinees are each weekend, except the final weekend of the run, with dessert at 1:30 and curtain at 2:30.

A season subscription, at $112.50 for a table for two, entitles patrons to their choice of table for the entire series. PERFORMANCES SET

By Princeton Ballet. The Princeton Ballet will give four performances at the George Street Playhouse in New Brunswick from June 5-8.

The occasion marks the first time that dance has been performed on the stage of the 11-year-old theater, and the first time the 12-member professional company will be able to present its entire repertoire in one engagement. The run will include four performances at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, and a family matinee on Saturday, June 8, at 2:30.

Tickets are $10 and $5. They may be obtained by calling the George Street Playhouse box office at (201) 246-7717.

SEEKS STATE FUNDS

For McCarter Renovation. Assemblyman John S. Watson (D-Mercer) has introduced a budget resolution to provide $600,000 in state funds to help McCarter Theatre meet the goals of its current capital campaign for expansion and renovations.

Mr. Watson is the vice-chairman of the Assembly's Revenue, Finance and Appropriations Committee. He also serves on the Legislature's Joint Appropriations Committee (JAC).

If approved, the $600,000 would be included in the state budget for Fiscal Year 1986, which begins July 1, and would therefore be available to the theatre within a relatively short period of time.

"The plans for the theatre require an initial $2.5 million for major structural improvements that are needed immediately," said Mr. Watson.

audiences have heard him in concert appearances as a pianist for the Friends of Music and with the Princeton Symphony and the Little Orchestra (now Chamber Symphony) of Princeton.

Versatile Composer. Prof. Cone has written piano, the point of view of the Music chamber, choral and orchestral pieces over the years. His Elegy was commissioned by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra and premiered in 1954, and in 1964, his Music for Strings, commissioned by the New Jersey Bicentennial Festival, was played at the Festival by the Concert Orchestra of New Jersey.

He received a Deems Taylor Award of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) for his book, The Composer's Voice, and another book, Musical Form and Musical Performance was praised as "the most persuasive attempt ever made to reconcile the intellectual analysis of music with the practical problems of the intelligent performer."

Prof. Cone is the co-editor of five volumes in a "Perspective On..." series of contemporary music published by Norton, and the author of numerous articles and reviews. He has lectured widely and been awarded honorary degrees and special professorships. And he is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Observer. As part of the Princeton scene for 50 years, Prof. Cone has viewed the changes in both "town" and "gown." He speaks of the "incredible build-up in town, more so in the past five years than in the 40 years before that."

He thinks that admitting girls was the big change in the life of the University and largely "for the good." From the thing to do — although that aspect of Princeton has been greatly exaggerated."

Partisan of Liberal Arts. Prof. Cone deplores the trend toward pre-professional specialization. In the 1960's, he notes, the humanities were not considered "relevant." Today he sees the problem as the swing toward taking only those courses that might be helpful in getting a job.

"Whether one likes or dislikes the social snobbery that went with the 'old' Princeton, students then recognized what Princeton represented — that knowledge was valuable for its own sake and you took courses not just to get you ready for what you might specialize in but to broaden you for whatever might come up."

Department, co-education has made possible a mixed voice. From his experience in the Glee Club and Chapel Choir and a full symphony orchestra without hiring "ringers." And let's face it," Prof. Cone notes, "some parents are unwilling to let their sons go into music as a specialization. By Thus from a practical standpoint, co-education has been a boon to the music department."

He continues: "Girls have raised the intellectual tone of the campus. Among girls it is not as unfashionable as it once was to be interested in your studies. In the 'Old' Princeton — the Princeton of my undergraduate years — it was not

From his experience in the Army, Prof. Cone saw that those who were most resilient and least upset by the dislocation of Army life in the Near East under strange living conditions were those who had had a liberal education. By this, he meant not necessarily how far one had gone in college but a broad exposure to literature, history, the arts and sciences, what he calls "preparation for adjustment."

Another element that Prof. Cone finds disturbing is that the "recent crop of students that go against them. When I was an undergraduate you

"Perhaps people living under the shadow of imminent destruction don't have time to put off gratification, but it is unfortunate. And what really upsets me is that students feel that whatever they want, somehow they deserve to have — even a clear conscience."

Selective issues. He speaks of the divestiture controversy: "The students agitating for it will be gone by the time the effect takes place. The main good in divestiture is that it makes you (the students) feel good. The actual good is questionable. When you sell stock, someone has to buy it."

"Where there was one dean, today there are two deans and God knows how many assistant and associate deans. The whole upper floor of West College is covered with deans."

"This is the first issue on changes in the University Ad-campus today, and yet it is ministration: "When I was strange how many more here, there was a single Dean, issues there are closer to Dean (Christian) Gauss, and home. Students never seem to be had one assistant, Bill

And he has this to say about

Selden, and maybe they had a secretary. Where there was one dean, today there are two deans and God knows how many assistant and associate deans. The whole upper floor of West College is covered with deans."

And yet when Prof. Cone wanted to get a campus rock group to stop their playing because it was interfering with a music performance rehearsal, "no one of this bevy of deans had the authority to stop it." He speaks of the "tyranny" of "old" Princeton, but adds that it was "a benevolent tyranny." "I'd rather be tyrannized by a few people that you can get to than by a bureaucracy where the buck can be passed," he asserts.

dents are writing music intellectually and not really hearing how it sounds when played."

Town-Gown Relationships. "There is a lot of complaint that University people don't socialize with town people," Prof. Cone says, "but many don't realize that University people are very, very busy, that a faculty job is never a 9-5 job, and a free evening doesn't come that frequently."

"Many (town) people simply don't take the initiative. Those who made some sort of gesture would find they wouldn't be rebuffed and they would find a rich life made available to them."

However, it is also Mr. Cone's opinion that there is "not as much general interest among people in town in intellectual life" as formerly. He feels that townspeople are not taking advantage of University lectures and concerts and are not joining the Friends of the Art Museum and the Friends of Music as once they did.

"My impression is that there is a big population out there that doesn't know what is here (at the University), and I'm not sure it is the University's fault for not letting them know."

With his teaching duties for-

Attuned to Modern Music. As a composer, Prof. Cone feels that performance of contemporary music has changed very much for the better. There are a number of younger people who have grown up listening to contemporary music and the better music schools are encouraging new music. "My music doesn't seem difficult any more to this younger crowd."

"In fact it may seem old fashioned. It is not nearly as difficult as music some students are writing these days." Prof. Cone says that as he composes he thinks of how

It Was Big-Time Baseball in Miami, and Tiger Team Found Itself Outclassed in Losing Pair, 22-6 and 14-4

The NCAA Atlantic Regional in Miami, Fla. last weekend required a step up in the level of play from the Princeton baseball team. But, it was a step the Tigers weren't able to make.

Princeton was bombed out of the four-team double elimination tournament with a barrage of long balls, dropping lopsided games Friday to Miami, 22-6, and Sunday to Florida, 14-4. The Tigers' southern foes pounded their way to victory with 40 hits, including eight home runs.

The overmatched Tigers, though, also contributed to their own thrashing as they committed four errors in the first contest against the fifth-ranked Hurricanes, and then followed that with a horrific, seven-error debacle against the 15th-rated Gators. At the plate they didn't help themselves either, as most of the little offense they generated came after falling hopelessly behind.

"We looked very bad in spots," said a disappointed and worn Princeton Coach Tom O'Connell. "We showed our playoff inexperience."

Right from the start of the weekend, things were tough for the Tigers. The host team had everything in its favor for the first game. The Hurricanes, who carried a 56-14 record into the contest, were playing on the familiar artificial turf of Mark Light Stadium, at night, and before an enthusiastic home-crowd of almost 5,000. The Tigers had not played a game on turf this season, or at night, or before a crowd of more than 1,000.

But all these advantages proved secondary to the edge Miami held in hitting. The usually steady Princeton pitching collapsed as the Hurricanes unleashed a torrent of four homeruns, 13 extra base hits, and 24 in all.

Through the first three innings the Tigers managed to hold off the deluge of Miami offense. In their first trip through the batting order against previously unbeaten Princeton starter Scott LaForest, the Hurricanes could only manage one run on a phantom homer by catcher Chris Magno.

Leading off the second inning, Magno lined a full count offering from the Tiger southpaw into deep right center. As rightfielder Drew Stratton and centerfielder Dan Arendas moved to play the carom off the fence, the ball disappeared behind a canvas covering that draped over the wire-mesh outfield wall.

SPORTS

Protest Denied. Despite Princeton protests that the ball never cleared the fence, umpires ruled that Magno's blast was a home run. Television replays confirmed the Tigers' argument the next day.

"It was a terrible call," said O'Connell. "The umps were way out of position. I'm just relieved that it didn't matter in the outcome of the game."

Debate over Magno's homer proved moot, as the Hurricanes broke the contest open with four runs in the fourth, three in the fifth, and seven more in the sixth to lead 15-0, most coming on four baggers. The Hurricane homerun derby chased LaForest in the fifth, and then wore out Tiger relievers Joe Pape, Dick Casey, Brian Cassazza, and Todd Stockard.

"Scott didn't pitch that badly," said O'Connell of his starting ace. "He just made some mistakes early. He got behind some hitters and threw some bad pitches. The two home runs early off him (by Magno and Ellena) put him in a bad position."

Slugging wasn't the only device, though, the Hurricanes used to manhandle Princeton. Good starting pitching from Dan Davies, 15-1 on the season, kept the Tigers scoreless. Davies nicked the corners of the plate with a sharp breaking ball and a sneaky fastball to handcuff Princeton on just three hits in his six-inning stint.

The smooth throwing lefty was particularly tough on the middle of the Tiger line-up. He held the Tigers three-four-five hitters — Arendas, Stratton, and first baseman Todd Tuckner — hitless.

When Davies finally hit the showers, the Tigers were able to mount some offense against reliever Gus Miezio. In the final three innings Princeton traded rallies with Miami to fix the final score at 22-6.

Supplying the Tiger offense were junior shortstop Todd Leavitt who drove in three runs with a single and a ground rule double and freshman designated hitter Mike Reed who scored two runs and drove another home with a single.

Early Lead against Gators. Early on against Florida, which brought a 40-16 slate into the regional, it looked like the Tiger bats might stay productive. The EIBL champs jumped to a 1-0 lead in the third inning of their loser's bracket contest, by lumping together a hit, a walk, a sacrifice bunt, and a sacrifice fly from third basemen Marc Goldenberg, to manufacture the run.

But the Princeton attack fizzled, not producing another tally until the Gators, smarting from a 14-1 thumping suffered against Virginia on Friday afternoon, had put 12 marks of their own on the scoreboard.

To race out to its commanding lead, Florida mixed the long ball attack with aggressive base-running. The dose of power and speed proved too much for the Tigers.

The Gators took advantage of Tiger starter Mike Fiala's control problems to "sit-on" the fastballs he was forced to throw when he fell behind in the count. The good fastball hitting Southeastern Conference squad jumped on the hard-throwing Tiger righty for three homeruns, including two in the fourth inning that they used to turn a 1-1 tie into a 5-1 advantage.

But Florida didn't just use 400 foot blasts to "hurt the Tigers." The Gators also ran themselves into some runs. By attacking the basepaths with abandon, they forced Princeton into several run producing mistakes, including one botch on a second-home double steal, and another on steal of third.

"They played aggressive baseball and exposed our weaknesses," said O'Connell. "They really took advantage of our troubles with the running game."

Down 12-1 after six and a half innings the Tigers, the home team by virtue of a coin toss, rallied with three runs to trim the margin. The Princeton scoring came on a two-run double by Stratton and a wild pitch.

In their last two trips to the plate, the Gators added two more runs to set the score at 14-4. The second tally coming courtesy of three Princeton errors — two on a dropped third strike — and spoiling an otherwise flawless 1½ innings of six strikeout relief work from LaForest.

"I'm proud of the way the kids hung in there," said O'Connell, whose team finished the year 29-12. "We faced a lot of adversity, but didn't quit."

O'Connell's charges entered the regional with the handicap of having to take their final exams at the hotel while trying to prepare for the games. "It had to have an effect on the kids," said the coach.

Also, the Tigers were shaken by the loss of sophomore Sean Welsh, the regular designated hitter. Welsh could not be with the team because of the death of his father last Wednesday.

In spite of the dismal showing in Florida, the NCAA bid capped the Tigers most successful baseball season in 32 years, and with only seniors Fiala, catcher Craig Peters, pitcher Bill Beard, and catcher Rick Edie lost to graduation the next good year may not be so far away.

Talk about courage in sports — did you know there was a man with just one leg who played major league baseball? ... Bert Shepard lost his right leg in World War II, but he learned to walk and run on an artificial leg — and he made the majors as a pitcher in the American League ... Shepard played big league baseball in the 1945 season.

Although most baseball fans know about Joe DiMaggio's famous record when he hit safely in 56 straight games in 1941, what many fans don't know is that after that streak was stopped, DiMaggio then hit in 16 more games in a row, so he actually hit safely in a string of 72 out of 73 games — an achievement that's never been approached by any other major leaguer.

Did you know that the Houston Astros — who play indoors in the Astrodome — oddly enough once had a home game in the Dome postponed because of rain! ... It happened in 1976 when 10 inches of rain fell in the Houston area, flooding parts of the city ... PHS NETMEN OUSTED

In Group 3 Tennis Final, Princeton High School's bid to repeat as the public school state tennis champion ended Monday at the Princeton University courts when the Little Tigers bowed, 5-0, to undefeated Ramapo in the NJSIAA Group 3 semifinals. The Little Tigers did not win a single set.

In reality, Princeton's chances of repeating suffered a mortal setback when its number one singles player, Mark Leschly, separated his shoulder two weeks ago, diving into a wave during a school senior trip to Spring Lake.

PHS managed to win two more matches without Leschly, including a 4-1 victory last week over Hopewell Valley to raise its record to 22-1, but it was no match for powerful Ramapo.

Princeton's strength had been in its singles play and when Leschly's departure forced coach Joe Diefenbach to realign his lineup, it signaled the end for PHS.

As for next year, the Little Tigers' prospects will be even brighter, as all three singles players, Mark Leschly, Bruce Ellis and Stig Leschly return.

Against 23-0 Ramapo, Ellis, playing number one singles, went down, 6-4, 6-3; Stig Leschly, playing number two, was a 6-3, 6-1 victim, and Bruce Goodman was shut out in the third singles, 6-0, 6-0.

In doubles play, Matthew Mack and Brett Van de Bovenkamp lost 6-1, 6-2, and Deron Elliott and Bill Berry lost, 6-2, 6-2.

In its final regular-season game, PHS, the CVC league champions, won two singles and both doubles matches.

Ellis capped a standout sophomore year with a 4-6, 6-1, 6-1 victory over Quintin Kelly, while Stig Leschly handled Chris Durham, 6-1, 6-2. Both doubles teams won in straight sets.

Hopewell's lone point came in the third singles, where Jim Arls routed Goodman, 6-1, 6-0. The loss was only the third for the Bulldogs in 18 matches.

A NICE ENDING

For PHS Baseball Team. It was, said Princeton High baseball coach Ed Beacham, a good way to end it.

The Little Tigers scored five runs in the second inning Fri-Mack and Brett Van de Bovenkamp lost 6-1, 6-2, and Deron Elliott and Bill Berry lost, 6-2, 6-2.

In its final regular-season game, PHS, the CVC league champions, won two singles and both doubles matches.

"You could see it the last couple of weeks when the kids took to the field. They had a lot of confidence," said Beacham. "They knew they weren't going to make any errors. It's too bad we didn't have that feeling at the beginning of the season. Still, it's nice to finish on a high note."

One of the biggest of Princeton's seven hits was a single by Mike Petrone with two outs and runners on second and third. His hit drove in two runs during Princeton's second-inning rally. With the hit, Petrone finished eleventh among all hitters in Mercer County with a .397 average. The hard-hitting third baseman had been above .500 for most of the season.

Princeton centerfielder Gavin Hulsman had one hit in four at bats to finish second in the batting race with a glittering .474 average. The senior rapped out 36 hits in 76 appearances at the plate.

Junior Billy Mathes, who pitched the first five innings against West Windsor, got the win — his second. He got relief help in the last two from Tim Rumer.

Rumer and Flynn Carroll each had two hits for PHS as both teams had a total of seven. The loss was only the fifth for the Pirates in 20 starts.

Lot of Hitters Depart. Beacham will lose, he acknowledged, a lot of hitting through graduation. Playing their last games were catcher John Blankstein, first baseman Jim Opperman, second baseman Eddie Eccles, Petrone at third and Hulsman, Tim Faltiny and Pat Byrne in the outfield.

"It looks like we'll have a catcher and infield back but we're going to have to look for an outfield, especially with Hulsman and Faltiny gone. They were solid performers out there," said Beacham.

Another plus — and it is a big one — is that Beacham will have most of his pitching staff back. He began the season with a veteran senior staff that included Hulsman, Eccles, Opperman and Petrone in relief. But the pitching failed to live up to expectations and it ended up, Beacham noted, with juniors and sophomores working on the mound. Rumer, with four wins, and Mathes, claimed six of Princeton's nine wins.

"We should be set, especially with Rumer in there," predicted Beacham. "I think he is a real talent. He can do nothing but get better."

"So while I'm looking forward to next year, it is nice to be able to take some days off and play a little golf."

PHS PLACES TEN

In State Track Meet. The Princeton High School girls track team placed four girls in the state track meet this weekend plus its 4 x 400 relay team, and the boys team placed five, after last week's NJSIAA sectional competition was complete. The top five finishers in each event advanced to the NJSIAA state finals which will be held Friday and Saturday at Rutgers University.

The girls broke three PHS school records at the sectionals held Saturday at East Brunswick.

Susan Gray finished second in the Group 3 400 hurdles with a time of 66.0, breaking the previous mark of 67.5 set in 1982 by Alyson Brandt. Eva Klahnen came in second in the 1600 with a clocking of 5:16.6 — her best time this spring — to break the 5:24.7 set last year by Susan Gray.

Also taking a second place was the PHS 4 x 400 relay team of Susan Gray, Heather Gray, Hilary Jones and Teressa DiPerna with a 4:05.1 performance. That bettered the 4:07.5

mark set earlier this year by the same four.

DiPerna claimed Princeton's fourth second-place in the 400 meter with a time of 58.1. Darlene Andrews of North Hunterdon, which won the Group 3 sectional team title with 65 points, won the event in 52.7. DiPerna's best time — tops in Mercer County — is 57.8.

Heather Gray was fourth in the 800 (2:27.5) and Sarah Billington tied for fourth in the high jump (4-10) to also earn trips to Rutgers.

PHS finished fourth in the team standings with 18½ points to shade Ewing, which earned 18 for fifth place.

"The performances were very good on the whole," commented PHS coach Tom McMorrow. "Just to get into the top five and get a medal is very respectable."

Third for Young. Although PHS will send five to the states in the boys competition, it tied for tenth place with Kennedy High of Iselin in the team standings. Each had nine points. The Group 3 sectional team title was won by Franklin Township with 42½ points; Ewing was second with 28.

Freddie Young turned in the best individual performance for the Little Tigers when he took a third in the long jump with a leap of 20-9½. A veteran standout in football and basketball, Young, a senior, is competing in track for the first time this season.

Moshe Toussaint of PHS was fourth in the 400 with a time of 52.2 — two seconds off the winning time.

Three other Little Tigers made the state cut with fifth-place finishes. Graham Treistad was fifth in the 800 in 2:00.8, Sean Nyhan fifth in the 1600 in 4:29.5 and Nathaniel McVey-Finney fifth in the 3200 in 10:02.7. Princeton's 4 x 400 relay team also finished fifth.

Tom Perkins and Ben Eiref finished 1-2 in the 1600 Group 3 second heat but failed to qualify. Their times were 4:33.0 and 4:36.3.

Boys, Girls Split With HV. Earlier in the week, the boys and girls teams split in dual meet competition with Hopewell Valley. The boys lost, 99-32 to the Bulldogs and the girls won, 84-38. In winning, HV raised its overall record to 9-2, while the PHS boys lost for the fourth time in nine dual meets. The girls increased their record to 7-2 — 7-1 in the Valley League to clinch the league championship. The HV girls are winless in track this season.

McVey-Finney won both the 1600 and 3200 for PHS but Hopewell took first in every other running event and every field event except the shot put where Mike Riddick's toss of 44-2 was the longest.

PHS winners in the girls meet included Heather Gray (400), Janine Barnshaw (800), Marissa Taylor (1600) and Taylor and Laura Farmanfarman (tie) in the 3200. Barbara Byrne won the 100 H, Susan Gray the 400 H and Byrne, Rachel Spear, Gray and KERSHAW GETS EQUALIZER: Amy Kershaw (center) scores from point blank range against Summit goalie Mimi Ping on a free position penalty to tie the score at one in first-period action Friday against the undefeated visitors. Looking on is teammate Erika Gabrielsen (34). Summit won, 9-8, to remain unbeaten.

DiPerna won the 1600 relay.

Eva Klohn won the javelin and Hilary Jones the long jump for PHS. Hopewell's Jill Boyer won both the shot and discus and Dionne Short triumphed in the 100 and 200 for the Bulldogs.

STATE COMPETITION NEXT

For PHS Girls Lacrosse. Eighth-seeded Princeton High was scheduled to play ninth-seeded Montclair this week in the opening round of the annual girls lacrosse state tournament. Should the Little Tigers prevail against Montclair, a team they beat 15-7 and 13-6 in two previous meetings this season, it will next oppose top-seeded Summit in the quarter-final round on Friday at Summit.

While PHS coach Joyce Jones admits that PHS will enter the Montclair game with a "little psychological edge having beaten them in the past, we certainly don't want to go in underestimating them."

The Little Tigers begin the state competition with two goals: to atone for last year's opening round upset at the hands of Moorestown Friends and to win the state title.

But as Jones knows full well, it doesn't just happen. Two years ago, PHS was in the state finals and lost to Moorestown High.

"The players know they have the ability to achieve it," commented Jones. "But it is not just going to happen. There is a lot of pressure on us. We have to go out there and play each

PDS Boys Lacrosse Finishes as Best Team in New Jersey With Second Victory over Lawrenceville Last Saturday

A year after it suffered through its most forgettable season ever, the Princeton Day lacrosse team completed its most memorable, beating arch-rival Lawrenceville, 8-6, last Saturday at Fair Lawn High School.

The victory gave the Panthers their first Coaches' Tournament championship ever, and the Prep "A" title as well. No PDS team has ever accomplished as much in any sport.

This senior-dominated squad, which last spring saddled coach Bob Krueger with his first losing season (6-10), now ranks as the best in the state. Sometimes the worst must be endured before you are willing to fight hard enough to attain the best.

Injuries plagued the Panthers last year, but so did a lack of commitment on a team missing senior leadership. It wasn't a pleasant experience for Krueger or his players, but the memories helped them turn this season into something extra special.

"We had to have last year to have this year," an elated Krueger said after Saturday's contest. "This season the players have done everything they had to do. They have given 100 per cent on and off the field."

That 100 per cent was in evidence through 40 minutes of tough, grinding play against a formidable opponent on a hot afternoon. Since losing to Princeton Day, 8-7, in April, Lawrenceville had not only won all the rest of its games, it had practically demolished every opponent it faced. At 16-1, it seemed to many to be the superior team, despite the loss.

A loss to Hill in its second game, gave Princeton Day a 16-1 mark also, coming to the championship game. The Blue and White had played steady, solid lacrosse, always rising to the occasion to keep its win streak intact. As the season came to a close, however, it became obvious PDS and Lawrenceville were headed for another showdown.

The early-season triumph over the Larries would mean little, if it could not be repeated with two championships riding on the outcome. Krueger, for one, relished the prevailing sentiment: "I thought we had the best of both worlds. We had beaten Lawrenceville once, but still came into this game as the underdog mentally."

It's difficult to tell if his players needed to feel that or GAME'S MVP: Eric Bylin's fine play at both ends of the field Saturday earned him the most valuable player award in Princeton Day's 8-6 triumph over Lawrenceville.

not. Whatever they were thinking, it was apparent they wanted this victory more than Lawrenceville. Perhaps, the desire was fired by the memories of other defeats in other sports. Over the years, the Larries, bolstered by a bigger male enrollment in grades nine through 12, plus an occasional post graduate student, have won the far greater share of athletic contests between the two schools.

So when the game was up for grabs late in the fourth period with the score tied at six, it was Princeton Day who gave the extra measure. The offense came up with two goals, and the defense prevented any further scoring by Lawrenceville.

This senior team led by players like Eric Bylin, Tom Foster, Jack Cook, Bill Noonan, David Haynes, Eric Hovanec, Paul Van Horn, Sean Fisher and Charlie Jacques gave the PDS community a championship and a season it will long remember.

HARD GAME ALL THE WAY

But PDS Ends on Top. Through the first 36 minutes of last Saturday's game, no one would have dared predict the outcome. The momentum swung back and forth with each team threatening to break the contest open, but unable to do so.

Although somewhat tight in the opening minutes, the Panthers nevertheless managed to take a 1-0 lead early in the first period, on a goal by Chris Gallup at 2:28, assisted by Tom Foster. Eric Hovanec made it 2-0 at the 6:22 mark with a fine individual effort that ended with a superb left-handed shot past a surprised Lawrenceville goalie.

But PDS saw that two-goal advantage disappear in a span of just 10 seconds near the end of the first period. Lance Savage scored twice with less than 30 seconds remaining to tie the score at 2-2. Lawrenceville then pressed the attack through much of the second period, but the PDS defense held.

Near the end of the half, the Lawrenceville goalie was hit hard when he came out of the crease. While he lay on the ground, several players scrambled for the ball in front of the net. Bill Noonan came away with it and flipped it into an open net with 1:51 remaining to give the Panthers a 3-2 lead.

When Noonan scored his second just 14 seconds into the third period, PDS again looked ready to take charge. Instead, the Larries' explosive attack reeled off the next three goals. The first came just 16 seconds later, narrowing the gap to 4-3, and just 45 seconds after that the score was knotted at four apiece. Later in the quarter, Lawrenceville pumped in its third consecutive goal for a 5-4 lead, as the game seemed to be slowly slipping away from the Panthers.

However, before the period was over, Jack Cook responded with a crucial tally converting a shot from a tough angle on the right side to lift PDS back into a tie.

The fourth period was just over a minute old when Eric Bylin beat his man, swooped in and fired a 25-footer into the upper-right hand part of the net for a 6-5 PDS lead. Behind for the third time in the contest, Lawrenceville tied the score for a final time with 6:30 left.

Every possession was crucial now, and PDS's ability to score off of set situations began to pay off. Lawrenceville had tallied almost all of its goals, quick thrusts up the middle, before the PDS defense could set up.

In control in front of the Lawrenceville net, PDS scored the winning goal with 4:37 remaining when David Haynes broke from behind the net and took a perfect pass from Bylin. His turnaround shot found the mark, and the Blue and White led, 7-6.

There was still plenty of work for the PDS defense and goalie Chris McCabe, who made 10 fine saves. With 3:20 left, he came up with his best of the day, and then went after the ball far behind the PDS net and knocked it out of bounds.

20-8 Triumph over Kent Place Gives PDS Girls Lacrosse Fifth Consecutive State Prep Title and Undefeated Season

NO CATCHING THIS KING: Freshman Scottie King was one of several Princeton Day players who ran circles around Kent Place last Wednesday in the championship game. King scored four goals in the 20-8 victory.

Twelve months ago after her team had defeated Peddie to win its fourth consecutive NJISAA "A" Division title in lacrosse, Princeton Day coach Kim Bedesem was asked whether she thought PDS could win again in 1985.

"I don't think so," Bedesem replied. "We lose nine seniors; it looks like a rebuilding year."

It was an honest estimate, but, as anyone who has been following PDS girls' lacrosse knows, not a very accurate one. Bedesem's "rebuilding year" turned into something every coach dreams about — an undefeated season. PDS finished 15-0, improving on last year's 12-1 mark. It now has won 24 straight contests.

The perfect record was assured last Wednesday when the Panthers captured their fifth prep title, crushing Kent Place, 20-8, at Rutgers Prep. The game, the tournament, and the last part of the season were really anticlimactic for a team that had proved by mid-season it was far superior to virtually every opponent it faced.

Only Princeton High School belonged on the same field with PDS, and the Panthers won both meetings between the two in convincing fashion. "At the start, I never dreamed we could possibly go undefeated," Bedesem commented. "But when we beat PHS on the astroturf at Trenton State, it hit me that this was the kind of team that could do it."

"This is the best group of athletes I have ever coached. They are strong and tough and fast. Carlos Cara helped get us into super shape at the beginning of the season with a conditioning program. Some of the kids were in tears over it, and we had to convince them that it was worth it. Now they know that's what you have to do."

"In spite of all this, in the beginning I didn't know if we could get by without the skills and the stickwork. Once they developed, I knew we were going to be all right."

"Our high-scoring offense gave our defense time to mature. Our scorers each had the ability not only to go one on one, but also to pass to the open player. That was very helpful."

"But the real key to the success of this team was our goalie, Jen Bonini. At the start of the season, not having an experienced goalie was our biggest weakness. I took Jen off the field, where she could have been a starter, and put her in the cage, and convinced her it was in the best interest of the team to have her there. She really made a difference."

Bedesem also praised the play and leadership of her co-captains, Karen Callaway and Birgit Enstrom. "They will be extremely difficult to replace next year," she acknowledged. "They scored around 110 to 120 goals between them." Another attack position will also open up with the graduation of a third senior, Robin Trend.

But that leaves a solid nucleus behind with players such as Tania Schoennagel, Becca Royal, Robin Cook, Sharon Thompson, Maya Birmingham, Becca Sugerman, Betsy Jaffee, Anna Barrows, and Laura Heins all coming back. And freshman Scottie King, who in Bedesem's words "fulfilled all our expectations," should take up some of the scoring slack.

So, the chances are next May will find the Blue and White gunning for its sixth straight prep title. And if some of the better north Jersey high schools like Montville and Summit can be added to the schedule, the girls may have a chance to prove they are the best of any school in the state.

It's only fair considering the PDS boys team proved it this year.

KENT PLACE NEVER IN IT
PDS Scores First Five. If any suspense existed over the outcome of Wednesday's game, it disappeared early. Tania Schoennagel and Birgit Enstrom scored about half a minute apart two minutes into the first half.

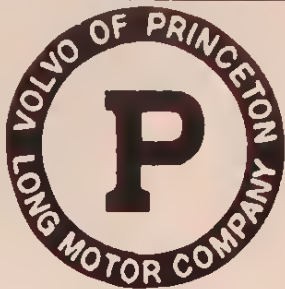

When freshman sensation Scottie King pumped in the next two and Enstrom added another at the 7:10 mark, PDS owned a 5-0 lead. Despite coach Kim Bedesem's exhortations from the sidelines, her girls lost some of their sharpness at this point, and didn't score again for six or seven minutes.

During this dry spell, Kent Place managed to put a shot off a Lawrenceville attackman, giving the Panthers possession.

With 1:27 left, Haynes struck again. Set up by Foster, he sent a hard low, bouncing shot into the net from the left side for an insurance tally. It was all over but the shouting, and plenty of that came a short while later as jubilant PDS students, teachers and parents poured on the field at the end.

The most valuable player award went to Bylin whose play in midfield helped give PDS the ball on numerous occasions. Krueger had high praise for his defensemen, particularly Charlie Jacques and Sean Fisher, who never allowed the explosive Lawrenceville defense to take control.

Krueger also cited the way his players found the open man on offense, after Lawrenceville had worked at keeping the ball away from Foster. His players had met the challenge at both ends of the field, giving their coach what he called "my biggest victory ever" in 10 years at Princeton Day.

by goalie Jen Bonini to make it 5-1. But, Karen Callaway got the Panthers rolling again with five minutes left in the half, scoring on a nice pass from Becca Royal.

In a whirlwind of scoring that lasted until the end of the half, Royal fed Schoennagel for number seven, Callaway netted the eighth on a nice individual effort, and a shovel pass from King to Enstrom made it 9-1. Enstrom and Callaway tallied numbers 10 and 11, before KP broke the streak with its second.

Time was definitely running out now, but PDS wasn't finished. With less than two minutes left Schoennagel got her third. Royal then sprinted down the right side and fired in number 13 with 40 seconds left, and, with only nine ticks left on the clock, Anna Barrows' pinpoint pass to Enstrom made it 14-2.

Halftime should have been used to award the trophies, but another 25 minutes of largely uninspired play remained. Both teams scored six times. Enstrom tallied three more, once on a nice feed from Sharon Thompson. Robin Cook picked up a goal on a fine solo effort, and set up Callaway for another. King took a pass from Royal and tallied her fourth and final goal.

Not until the last part of the second half did Kent Place have much success penetrating the Panthers' defense, which did not allow many shots on goal from close in. And Bonini did a fine job of blocking most of those that did come her way, winding up with 22 saves.

game. If we want the championship, we have to earn it." For some of the players, observed Jones, it is more a psychological battle than a test of ability.

PHS, with a 9-5 record, enters the states knowing it can play with the best. On Friday, it lost a 9-8 decision to undefeated Summit, and earlier in the week it tagged a 9-6 defeat on Montville, the defending state champion, to atone for an earlier loss this season.

"I thought we played well," said Jones of the Summit game. "It was a good pre-tournament game for us."

PHS, she said, had its chances to score against Summit at the end. Abby Tate had a breakaway and the home team Little Tigers had two free positions in the closing minutes but were unable to get the tying goal on any of the opportunities.

The game with Summit was only seconds old when the visitors' attack wing Liz Reinhart drove the length of the field and scored. "We were not ready to play from the draw; we were a little too relaxed," recalled Jones on the early score.

Amy Kershaw tied it at 1 when she scored later from point-blank range on a free position. From a 4-3 halftime deficit, PHS tied the score at 4 on the first of Sue Lofgren's three second-half goals and then went ahead for the first time when Cassie Vogt scored. Erika Gabrielsen and Boie Lockwood also scored for PHS.

PHS goalie Liz O'Donoghue had 11 saves, while Mimi Ping had 15 for Summit. The shooting for both teams, Jones noted, was very close, with PHS getting off 25 shots and Summit 24.

Jones cited the defensive play of sophomore Aileen Causing and veteran senior Nadia Glucksberg. Glucksberg, she reported, had two blocks and one interception and played a "super game."

Gabrielsen Decides Outcome. Two fine performances, one on offense by Gabrielsen and one on defense by Tate, who threw a blanket over high-scoring Kathy Kaudelky in the second half, decided the outcome in the Montville game.

With the score tied at 5 and with the game having been stopped for ten minutes because of lightning, Gabrielsen scored the last four goals in the game to give PHS its win. "She just exploded," said Jones. At the same time, Tate held Kaudelky, who had two first-half goals and four against PHS in their first meeting, scoreless in the second half. "Abby did a super job for us offensively and defensively," said Jones.

Tate had scored the game's first goal off an assist by Vogt, and Lockwood and Lofgren added goals to give PHS a 3-0 lead. Montville came back to tie it, and when Gabrielsen scored her first goal the half ended even at 4-4.

Two minutes and 25 seconds into the second half, Lockwood scored her second goal to give PHS the lead again in the seesaw battle. Montville, seeded tenth this year in the state tournament, came back to tie and take the lead again, however, before Gabrielsen took over.

Montville had only four shots in the second half, the result, Jones said, of a tenacious PHS defense that was forcing Montville to loop its passes, setting up PHS interceptions.

Jones singled out the defensive play of senior Myla Causing, who had several blocks and initiated the PHS attack well, and that of sophomore Noel Mann, who, she said, played a very good player-to-player defense and is starting to play with more authority.

PHS began the week with a 19-2 rout of Stuart Country Day School.

Lockwood tallied five goals and Lofgren added three. Gabrielsen, Vogt, and Katie Geiger each scored two goals.
